

Juraj Sipko currently works as the director of the Institute of Economics of the Slovak Academy of Science. From 2000 to 2006, he worked for the International Monetary Fund in Washington, D.C. as an advisor to the Executive Director, of the Belgian Constitution, he later served as an advisor to the Governor of the NBS.

He was the director of the Department of International Relations at the Ministry of Finance of the Slovak Republic. He obtained the title of associate professor at the University of Economics in Bratislava and is a graduate of the Wharton School of Economics, Pennsylvania University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Harvard Business School, Harvard University.

He speaks actively English and Russian languages and German and Esperanto passively.